Dubai security chief launches first case under UAE's new anti-discrimination law

Dubai, A high-ranking Dubai security chief has launched a criminal complaint against a Saudi writer under the new law against hate crime.

Lt Gen Dhahi Khalfan, deputy chief of police and general security, accuses the writer, Dr. Mohammed Al Hadif, of spreading hatred of the UAE on social media.

"We are organizing a case now to pursue him, according to the new law," Gen Khalfan said on Twitter. "Criticism is one thing and hatred is another thing. Th-

-e case has been filed, Al Hadif is wanted, and it's time to try him in court."

Gen Khalfan, the former Chief of Dubai Police, has previously accused Dr. Al Hadif of being a member of an organization linked to the Muslim Brotherhood.

The law criminalizing all forms of discrimination on the grounds of religion, caste, creed, doctrine, race, color or ethnic origin was enacted on July 20.
